Many people think regrouting bathroom tile is messy and time consuming. Actually, it is very simple. There is less chance of damages to the tile in the process of grouting, if done properly.

Steps to RegROUT Bathroom Tile

Gathering the tools

- Tools needed: Rotary tool such as a Dremel or oscillating tool, flat-head screwdriver, and grout application tools .
- Safety gear: safety glasses and hand gloves.
- Also need grout powder.

Remove Grout

- Remove the existing grout with the help of an oscillating tool.
- Remember not to force the tool into the tile edges.

Get Grout Out

- Gently angle the blade to get more grout out.
- Be careful not to linger on the edges as it can damage the tile.

Apply the Grout

- Using the trowel, apply the mixed grout along the tile surface.
- Distribute extra grout into the joints to fill them completely.
- This can also be done with the help of a rubber float.

Remove Excess Grout

- Once every grout joint has been filled, make sure to remove the excess grout.

Clean Up

- Wipe away grout haze by using a wet sponge.
- Do not stroke the sponge across the tile surface too hard as it may pull grout out of the seam.

Finish

- Make sure not to get the grout wet for 24 - 48 hours.
- Once it has dried, apply a penetrating sealer with a sponge or spray bottle.
- Make sure to wipe off the excess sealer otherwise it may stain the tile.
